No. 4. SIGNALLERS' CONTEST.

Team to consist of 6 working N.C.O.'s or men and 11 N.C.O.'s to supervise but not take part.

Message to be correct in preference to shortest time taken in sending. Message to be written down in correct manner on an "A" form.

METHOD OF SENDING MESSAGE ROUND.

Man to start from the Base equipped with Telephone, Earth pin and Climbing irons.

Climb over obstacles as arranged by the Committee and, after clearing the last obstacle, runs certain distance to a pole, from the top of which a telegraph line has been run out. Climbs pole, connects up the terminals and signals a message through phone. Receiver at the other end writes the message down and man with Morse flag sends it on.

Receiver at the Distant station receives message from the flags and Writer-down calls to man with the Disc, who sends the message on. Receiver at Distant station calls to Telephonist, who writes down and Boxes message along wire, which is laid before race commences.

FRIDAY.

Receiver at Distant station writes message down correctly, disconnects his telephone, packs up, mounts horse waiting for him, and after clearing certain bundles as arranged, he gallops back to base and hands message back to Empire.
