Formation

7th Field Artillery Brigade, 3rd Division, A.I.F. was formed at the "Warren" a one-time convent, in the suburb of Marrickville, NSW on 17 March 1916, under the command of Lieutenant Colonel R. St. J. Pearce, VD.¹ The Brigade comprised Brigade Headquarters, 25, 26, 27 and 28 Field Batteries (each of four 18 pounder guns) and 7th Field Brigade Ammunition Column.

The Brigade embarked at Sydney on HMAT Argyllshire on the 11 May 1916. It arrived at Portsmouth, England on 11 July. Training took place at Larkhill, Salisbury Plains where on the 5th of September the 23rd Howitzer Brigade² was abolished. 28 Field Battery absorbed elements of the 7th Field Artillery Brigade Ammunition Column and was designated 107 Howitzer Battery with the 4.5-inch howitzer being transferred. The 107 Howitzer battery in the 23rd Field Artillery Brigade was renumbered 28 Field Battery guns and titles being exchanged and not the men.

The brigade disembarked at Le Havre, France on 31 December 1916. At Stazeele on 6th January 1917 a further reorganisation of the Brigade occurred. The batteries were reformed and made into six gun batteries. The original 27 Battery was cut up and its personnel allocated amongst the other batteries. A new 27 Battery was formed out of 36th Field Battery and a section of 28 Field Battery of the now disbanded 23 Field Artillery Brigade. A section of 109 Howitzer Battery of the Brigade was absorbed by 107 Howitzer Battery. This reorganisation was to economise on battery commanders, who were in short supply.

The Brigade went into action on 17 January 1917 at Armentieres and took part in the battles of Messines, Menin Road, Broodseinde, Passchendaele, Morlancourt, Mont St. Quentin and the Hindenburg Line. Towards the end of the war, in 1918, the Brigade served with the 27th United States Division. (See Appendix B)

On 3 April 1919 the 7th and 8th Field Artillery Brigades were amalgamated. By the end of April only about 250 men remained in both brigades and on 1 May 1919 2nd Division Artillery and 7th Field Artillery Brigade ceased to function. The remaining personnel were formed into one battery (26 Field Battery) and attached to 4th Field Artillery Brigade for demobilisation and returned to Australia. On 18 August 1919, the Brigade was removed from the line of battle.

Between the Wars

On the 31st of March 1921, VII Australian Field Artillery Brigade was formed under the command of Lieutenant Colonel C.A. Callaghan, CMG, DSO at Mount Street, North Sydney, NSW. After a divisional reorganisation the Brigade was formed from the following units:

¹ Lieutenant Colonel Pearce was appointed Commanding Officer of the Brigade on the 17th March 1916 and would appear to have been responsible for forming the Brigade

² At the time of the arrival of I Anzac Corps in France the British organisation was in the process of change, howitzer brigades being abolished, and their batteries being distributed to the 18 pounder brigades, each howitzer battery displacing one field battery. The displaced 18 pounder batteries (which in the A.I.F. were the last batteries of each brigade) were formed into new brigades (which in the A.I.F. took on the numbers of the old howitzer brigades).

In the case of the 3rd Division Artillery the above reorganisation did not occur. 28 Field Battery became 107 Howitzer Battery and guns and titles exchanged. (Note 3 Page 681 Vol 5, Official History of Australia in The War of 1914-1918. C.E.W. Bean).

In November 1929 the Brigade was moved into the depot at Warrane Road, Willoughby. The new depot was officially opened on the 24th of May 1930 by Colonel J.C. Selmes DSO, VD. The Menage (riding school) and stables were situated between Tyneside Avenue and Eastern Valley Way opposite the depot and was run by the Remount Section, Army Service Corp with assistance from the Veterinary Corp. Also attached to the unit were members of the Corp of Signals. The Brigade was now known as 7th Field Brigade AFA.

From 1921-1939 annual camps were held at Liverpool, Holsworthy, Greta, Aberglasslyn and Williamtown. Guns and remounts were obtained at depots in the area.

The Brigade designation is shown in the gradation lists of 1937 as 7th Field Brigade Royal Australian Artillery (Militia). 26 Field Battery was raised in 1 July 1939 at Holsworthy, when the Brigade was also mechanised. The Brigade being the last field Brigade to be mechanised.

World War II

On the declaration of war on the 3rd September 1939, each battery was equipped with four guns. Many individual members of the Brigade joined the A.I.F in the first twelve months of hostilities, including 39 Regimental officers and the medical officer. The majority joined 2/1st, 2/6th, 2/9th and 2/15th Field Regiments. More officers and other ranks joined later, especially in response to recruiting campaigns during annual camps in 1940 and 1941. (See Appendix C)

In early 1940 recruits were trained at the depot during the week from 9 A.M to 5 P.M, because of a lack of artillery training camps, before allocation to A.I.F units. This resulted in the 2/9th Field Regiment being designated "A Friend of the Regiment" on 4 October 1977. Many of its members first military training was received at the Willoughby depot.

By the time of annual camp in April 1940 at Greta and Largs in NSW, Mechanisation was with impressed civilian vehicles and the issue of two Marmon Harrington gun tractors to each battery. In the three gun batteries (25, 26 & 27) the Q.F. Mark IV 18 Pdr Guns were shod with pneumatic tyres, but the solid iron tyres of the Quick Fire (Q.F.) 4.5 Howitzers of 107 (H) Battery were not replaced until the end of this camp.

On the 1st of February 1941 the Brigade was designated as the 7th Field Regiment, RAA (Militia). 27 Field Battery was disbanded and absorbed as B Troop 25 Field Battery. 107(H) Battery was also disbanded and absorbed as D Troop 26 Field Battery. The Regiment now being 2, eight gun batteries

Camp, in April 1941 was held at Ingleburn, Warwick Farm and Narellan. On the 1st of October 1941, 7 Field Regiment consisting of 25, 26, Field Batteries was allocated to full time duty, along with signals and a Light Aid Detachment (L.A.D). At this time the 18 pounders and the 4.5-inch howitzers were withdrawn and 25 pounder gun howitzers were issued in their place. Each battery was split into two troops of four guns. During 1941 and 1942 training of the Regiment and of replacement officers was carried out at Wallgrove and Greta. The Regiment was also used to defend the beaches at Narrabeen, Manly, Coogee and Wollongong.

By 20 March 1942, 27 Field Battery had been raised at Narellan. On the 29 May 1942 the regiment was designated as 7th Australian Field Regiment.

The Regiment, with strength of 600 men, was transferred to Western Australia by train, arriving on 14 July 1942 as part of the 8th Infantry Brigade, 2nd Division, 3rd Australian Corps, serving at Chidlow, Gin Gin, Bellevue, Geraldton, Dandaragan, Mingenew and Nangulu.

It was said there was a toss of coin as to which Regiment was to go to New Guinea or Western Australia, between 7 Field and 14 Field Regiments. 14 Field won the toss and went to New Guinea. They fired the first Artillery rounds on the Japanese from Owers Corner, with an Observation Post (O.P.) at Imita Ridge on the 20th of September 1942.

On the 1st of January 1943 the Regiment was redesignated as an A.I.F. regiment. All the officers and 75% of the other ranks volunteered for overseas service. These personnel were allotted NX numbers. The Regiment became known as the 7th Australian Field Regiment (A.I.F).

On 21st September 1943 the Regiment sailed from Fremantle on H.M.A.T. Nieuw Amsterdam to Melbourne and then train to Greta. The Regiment was returned to Wallgrove NSW on the 30th of October 1943, where it was disbanded on 17th November 1943, as the Corp had too many artillery units in existence for the operational requirements at that time. The members of the Regiment were allocated to artillery and other units and services.

During the period the Regiment was on service and after disbandment, the Willoughby depot was used as Head Quarters for 62 Australian Army Search Light Company/Battery.

Post War

On the re-raising of the CMF on the 1st of April 1948, 7 Field Regiment, RAA was reformed at Warrane Road, Willoughby under the command of Lieutenant Colonel C.E. Chapman, ED as part of 2nd Infantry Division. Recruiting began in June 1948 to form P and Q batteries with attached signals and L.A.D. Ordnance being 25 pounder gun/howitzers.

With the introduction of National Service, R Battery was raised in Hornsby on 7th December 1951 under the command of Major O.N. Rosevear, ED. On 11th March 1952 this battery became the nucleus of 21 Field Regiment, RAA. On the disbandment of 21 Field Regiment on 7 August 1957 some members joined 7th Field Regiment. R Battery was again reformed at Willoughby on 1 July 1955 and was disbanded on 1 July 1960 on the running down of National Service.

Following the winding up of the National Service scheme, 14 Field Regiment, RAA at Addison Road Marrickville was absorbed on the 1st of July 1960 and became Q Battery 7 Field Regiment. P Battery and RHQ remained at Willoughby with L.A.D. detachments. Head Quarter Battery was formed on 1 July 1965. The Regiment reorganised on Tropical Establishment as a field regiment Pentropic (DRA Liaison Letter July 1960).

During the Colonel Commandants meeting on the 24th of October 1965 the batteries were renamed. P Battery became 26 Field Battery, Q Battery became 27 Field Battery, and 28 Field Battery was not raised until 1st November 1973.

26 Field Battery's 25 pounders were withdrawn in 1965 and were replaced with 105mm L5 Pack Howitzers. The L5's were themselves withdrawn late in 1966, for use in Vietnam, and replaced by the return of 25 pounders.

During 1969, the Marrickville depot was closed, and 27 Field Battery was transferred to Willoughby.

During 1973 the 25 pounders were finally replaced by L5 howitzers. 26 and 27 Field Batteries were disbanded on the 1st of November 1973 and were reformed as 28 Field Battery at Willoughby. A new battery, 5 Field Battery was created from the disbanded 9 LAA Regiment at South Creek Road, Dee Why. 113 LAA Battery at Brunner Road, Adamstown was attached to the Regiment. The Battery was redesignated as a field battery on the 30th of June 1975, becoming 113 Field Battery.

Following the Millar Committee Report on the C.M.F. a recommendation was made to make more use of the Women's Royal Australian Army Corps (W.R.A.A.C.) personnel in the C.M.F. The first W.R.A.A.C., PTE M.F. Pamment was attached on the 2nd of October 1974. The first W.R.A.A.C. soldier to be made up to the rank of Sergeant was SGT P.L. Vincent on the 22nd of June 1977. The first W.R.A.A.C. Officer LT M.G. Wheatley was appointed on the 5th of September 1982.

In 1975, the Regiment was reorganised as a R.A.A B Type A.RES Unit. 5 Field Battery was disbanded in 1976 and absorbed into 28 Field Battery, which then moved to Dee Why.

On 1st October 1976 113 Field Battery became part of the Regiment. At Willoughby the Regiment comprised RHQ, HQ Battery, a detachment of 113 Battery and Technical Support Troop R.A.E.M.E.

The L5 Howitzers were withdrawn at this time and replaced with M2A2 105mm howitzers. During this period annual camps were held at Holsworthy, Singleton, Tianjara and Ingleburn.

On the 1st of October 1979, 1 Field Ambulance R.A.A.M.C. moved into part of the Willoughby depot. The detachment of 113 Field Battery was disbanded, and the personnel and their equipment were transferred to 28 Field Battery at Dee Why.

On the 31st of December 1981, the Regiment became a R.A.A. C type ARES unit with 12 guns. Between the 10th and 23rd September 1983, the Regiment combined with 23 Field Regiment to form

P Battery for an exercise at Cultana Range, El ALAMEIN Training area, South Australia.

On 29th July 1990 the Regiment was granted Freedom of Entry to the City of Willoughby.

On 7th Jun 1992 the Regiment was granted Freedom of Entry to the City of Newcastle.

In January 1995, 113 Field Battery moved to a multiuser depot in Bruncker Road Adamstown.

On the 16th of March 1996 the Willoughby Depot closed and HQ Battery and T.S.T. moved into a new depot to be shared with 2/17 Battalion Royal New South Wales Regiment in Suakin St Pymble. In June 1996 a troop of 113 Field Battery was established at Erina.

On 6th November 2004 the Regiment was granted Freedom of Entry to Warringah Shire.

Since the 1980's both the Army and the Regiment have been involved in many changes in both training and manning.

The following chronological order outlays these changes. I have also included the significant ceremonial events the Regiment has participated in as well as other Regimental highlights.

During the early 80's the Regular Army allocated positions within their regular batteries whilst on their British exchange exercise "Northern Star". This integration allowed some members of the Regiment to be attached on this 4-6-week exercise.

1983

Regiment combined with 23 Fd Regt (1 Battery) for a two week exercise at El Alamein Training area Cultana South Australia.

1984

New enlistees are no longer given the 2105--- 7 Fd Regiment series service number. 2 Division allocate a 2305--- series number.

1988

The Regiment combined with 23 Fd Regiment and formed a Battery for Tasman Link, a two week week exercise in New Zealand.

1990's

The Army introduced Common Induction Training (CIT); this increased the basic competency of the reserve recruit soldier to that of a regular Army member.

This new training regime saw the end of the two week reserve course structure and introduced an 11 week recruit course. This also allowed easier transfer of reserve soldiers to the ARA stream. Currently the Recruit course has been reduced to 4-5 weeks.

1990's

During the 90's the Army began streamlining their Employment Category Codes (ECN) to be more Corp specific. This meant non-Artillery positions in the R.A.A Corp, such as drivers, storeman, clerks, cooks etc had to swap their white lanyards for their specific Corp colour, thus future members joining Artillery Regiments had no Artillery knowledge.

During this phase we also saw the demise of ECN 361, Signaller Artillery and saw the introduction of a more structured R.A.A progression line which meant all members of the of the Corp must first complete a basic gunnery course and Basic Communicators Course (BCC), some 5 weeks training as well as completing a future Specialised Communicators Course (SCC), another 2 weeks training.

With the increased tempo of the Regular Army overseas deployments saw rotations to Rifle Company Malaysia (RCB) open to reserve soldiers. Butterworth, in northern Malaysia, is used by the Australian Army as a training facility for its regular and reserve army. Over the years, the Regiment has been fortunate to send many members on this three month training exercise.

1991-93

RHQ also manned a gun, thus the Regiment deployed 13 guns on some weekend exercises.

1992

Regiment received the L119 105mm Hamel gun.

1995

The Regiment deployed a 3 gun section and Regimental Command Post to Tindal, Northern Territory for exercise Kangaroo 95.

2000

OP Gold Sydney Olympics saw the Regiment provide many members for periods of 2 to 12 weeks duration. Members performed operational search duties as well as manning some command positions, to alleviate any potential terrorist threat.

2001 1 Jan

Fired the Centenary of Federation Salute, Centennial Park, Sydney.

2001 Sept Regiment fired it's first L118 Abbot ammunition.

2002 28 Feb Fired the funeral salute for Sir Roden Cutler, VC.

2003

Exercise Crocodile saw 22 members deployed to Townsville and attached to regular Army units.

2004

The Army introduces the Hardened Army concept. This sees the reserves perform a broaden range of new roles. This sees the reserves are trained to be ready to serve on operations that demand high levels of individual and collective military proficiency.

2004

Australian Defence Force transfers all members to the Personal Management System, PM Keys. All soldiers are now issued a PM Keys number and no longer recognise the Army service number.

2004

Storeman PTE Graham Atkinson 113 Battery, deployed on Operations to Iraq. This being the first member to deploy on active service since the Vietnam war.

2005

28 Bty forms Gun detachment at Pymble depot.

2006

The Army introduced the Reserve Response Force (RRF) which has significantly expanded Army's capacity to respond to domestic security or natural disaster requirements utilising trained members of the Active Reserve (AR). Personnel are required to complete the nine day RRF Course. These members are signed to a yearly agreement and receive a $700.00 (Nov 09) untaxed payment for meeting their RRF obligations. The Regiment currently has some 20 members signed up in 8 Brigade's RRF Companies.

2007

Operation Resolute. ADF's contribution to Australian whole-of-government efforts to protect Australia's Exclusive Economic Zone (EEZ). The Regiment is still currently providing members to assist on this operation.

2007

The Army introduced High Readiness Reserve (HRR), this allows specified individual and collective capabilities to support, sustain and reinforce Army's operational forces. These members are signed to a two year contract and receive a payment of $10,000.00 (Nov 09) untaxed, for 2 consecutive year's efficient HRR service (must serve 32-50 days per year including a 16 day continuous training period). The Regiment's obligation is 2 x Joint Offensive Support Teams (JOST).

2007 Sept

OP Deluge Australian Defence support to the Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation (APEC) 2007. The Regiment provided various members to assist on this operation for the security of the world leaders visit to Sydney.

2007 Oct

Introduction of Project Focus across 8 Brigade saw the Regiment lose many of its non-corps positions such as drivers, cooks, clerks and TST from the Regimental manning. This accounted for the loss of some 29 positions from both the ARA and Reserve. These positions were transferred to Brigade Operational Support Cell (BOSC) at 8 Bde Dundas. The BOSC members can then be allocated to any Bde unit

2008

Operation Outreach, ADF's support to the Northern Territory Emergency Response Task Force.

2008

Operation Anode, Regional assistance mission to Solomon Islands. The Regiment has and still is providing members to this deployment.

2008

Operation Testament, Defence assistance to the World Youth Day and Popes visit.

2009 March

OP Vic Fires Assist. Members of RRF deployed to assist in the searching of Victorian bushfire damaged areas.

2009

July - HRR members deploy to ex Talisman Sabre (Joint Australian and American exercise) at Shoalwater Bay Qld.

2010

Mar - To align with changes to ARA all ECN 245 Command Post Operators are converted to ECN 162 Gun.

2011

Nov - Project Beersheba released implementing changes to many Reserve units, 7 Field Regiment is to dis-establish in December 2012 and both 28 and 113 Batteries to amalgamate and become 7 Light Battery using 81 mm F2 mortars under ECN 161. 7 Lt Battery will be come under the command of 2/17 Battalion RNSWR, and is broken up into 3 troops, B.H.Q and 25 Troop located at Erina, 28 Troop located at Dee Why and 113 Troop located at Adamstown. Each troop having 2 mortars and 1 x JOST party.

2012

Jun 17 - 105 mm L119 Hamel guns fired for last time during Regimental LFX at Singleton range.

2012

Ju1 - 105 mm Hamels guns are returned to storage and Regiment receives their new allocation of 6 81 mm F2 Mortar tubes. Members begin attending courses for the transition to Mortars.

2012

Aug - CAPT S. Flower appointed first BC and WO2 A. Cartwright BSM of 7 Lt Bty.

2012

Nov 24 - First LFX completed by 7 Lt Bty using 81mm F2 Mortar at Singleton range.

2012

Dec 1 - CO officially hands over unit to command to CO 2/17 at the last 7 Field Regiment Dinner function at Harbord Diggers club.

2012

Dec 14- 7 Field Regiment R.A.A is dis-established and becomes 7 Lt Battery 2/17 Battalion R.N.S.W.R. 25 Light Troop located at Erina,

2013

Jan 26, 7 Lt Bty fires Australia Day salute, using borrowed 105 mm Hamel guns from storage

1. LTCOL Pearce would appear to have been responsible for forming 7th Field Artillery Brigade.
 2. Despite the overlapping of dates of appointment of LTCOL Pearce and LTCOL Spencer, both officers are shown as "To Command". It would appear that LTCOL Spencer was administering command until 23 September 1916 on which date LTCOL Pearce left England to return to Australia. He had been ill for some time prior to his departure. It is emphasised however, that there is no evidence to substantiate the foregoing statement.
 3. There is differing information concerning the dates of LTCOL James relinquishing command. Records in the Australian War Memorial state 19 May 1918. 7th F.A.B. "Yandoo" Volume III records the date as 21 May 1918. Gradation lists show LTCOL James commanded 7th Field Artillery Brigade 1 Apr 1918 – 20 Aug 1918 and commanded R.B.A.A. A.I.F. 21 May 1918 – 16 Jan 1919.
 4. There is differing information concerning LTCOL King's command. Records in the Australian War Memorial state 19 May 1918 – Sep/Oct 1918. 7th F.A.B. "Yandoo" Volume III command passed to LTCOL King on the 21st of May 1918 with no details of relinquishing command. Central Army Records Office (C.A.R.O.) states “no record can be found of LTCOL King actually commanding 7 F.A.B. although he was apparently on the strength of that unit for a short period in 1918. It appears that LTCOL King administered command.

Re Enlistment – A.I.F 7th Division

Lt Col R Daly has been recommended for appointment as CO of the 2nd /6th Field Regiment A.I.F with Major FB McAlister as 2nd I/C.

Many of the other Officers of the Brigade have also been recommended for appointment in the Regiment.

It is desired that as many as possible of the present NCOs of the 7th Brigade should enlist in the 2/6th Field Regiment, and it is requested that if you are interested you should report at Willoughby Drill Hall on Tuesday night 30 April 40 at 7.30 pm for interview.

It is likely that the Regiment will go into camp at Ingleburn on Monday 6th May 40. If you cannot attend, you should ring the Drill Hall on Tuesday night.

HORSE DRAWN DETACHMENT

In 1973 under the direction of LTCOL H.A.F. Benson, D.F.C., a horse drawn detachment was formed, which made its first appearance on Her Majesty's the Queen Mother's birthday, 4th August 1973.

The detachment comprises a six horse team drawing a 15 pounder gun and limber. Three of the horses are ridden. Two members ride on the limber and two members ride on the gun. The detachment commanders and second-in-command ride independently.

The gun, a Breach Loaded (BL) 15 pounder No. 1007 made in 1899/1900 was obtained from 12 Field Regiment R.A.A. at Coral Lines, Ingleburn.

A second gun was obtained from the Australian War Memorial Storehouse at Duntroon Military College, Canberra. This gun was cannibalised to restore the first gun.

The war memorial also loaned an axle and wheels for a limber, harness and saddles.

The saddles were General Sir John Monash's and also the saddle presented to Major C.F. Cox on the day of his departure for South Africa on the 16th March 1901, by the staff of the Railways Department, Sydney, N.S.W.

The equipment was restored to its present condition by the R.A.E.M.E. detachment attached to 7 Field Regiment.

The uniform worn comprises black boots, black leggings, barathe blue officer type trousers and coat, tan bandolier, white gloves and white pith helmet with a brass spike and gold chain chin strap. On occasions a tan Sam Browne belt is worn.

LTCOL Benson was assisted in the formation of the detachment by CAPT J.C. Rappell and the second-in-command SGT H. Taylor, A.M.

The horses used were obtained from Mr G. Ware's stables at Leichhardt. Mr Ware also took part in the riding of the horses when the detachment was on display.

It is a point of interest that a 15 pounder gun similar to the gun used by the detachment was fired at reveille each morning at "The Warren", Marrickville by 7th Field Artillery Brigade while in training in 1916. Also, this type of gun was used in the Boer War.
